

Looking for a common sense way to buy industrial controls?

It's time to try

AUTOMATIONDIRECT

Best prices every day

Our direct business model allows us to offer high-quality products with minimal overhead.

We pass the savings on to you with our low everyday prices. Our prices are typically 50% below the list price of leading traditional automation manufacturers.

Two-Hand Safety Valve

(Part No 08.156.4)

This valve is used to pilot high-flow directional control valves connected to machines which have a high risk of injuries to the hands.

The machine operator must simultaneously operate, in a safe area, two three-way manual valves for correct operation.

The safety valve will ignore a single depression of one of the manual valves. To repeat the cycle both pilot signals must be exhausted and the manual valves simultaneously actuated again.

The two-hand safety valve is sold with CE-certification (compliant to Machinery Directives EEC 89/392, 91/368, 93/44, 96/68 and to Norm EN 574, level 1).

Quality pneumatics cylinders at prices you would not believe.
